AROUND UNSW

Your New Home

All UNSW campuses are located in fascinating suburbs, surrounded by areas to explore and discover. Wherever you are located you will be able to meet the locals and make it your new home.

KENSINGTON

UNSW is located in Kensington, in Sydney’s South-Eastern Suburbs. Kensington is only 6 kilometres from Sydney’s CBD, and is often referred to by students as “Kenso”. Kensington is easily accessible by public transport (bus) from most areas of the city.

Apart from UNSW, Kensington is mostly a residential suburb, with 11,000 residents. UNSW is located close to Sydney’s horse-racing district and is next door to Royal Randwick Racecourse. Kensington has access to a wide variety of parks and recreation spaces, the biggest being the nearby Centennial Park, a huge urban park area with bike paths and sports fields.

COFA: ART DESIGN MEDIA

The recently redeveloped UNSW College Of Fine Arts Campus is located in Paddington, in Sydney’s inner Eastern suburbs. Paddington is an upmarket suburb, filled with terrace houses, boutique stores, and cafes. With so many options you are sure to find a delicious cup of coffee around every corner. COFA is just over 4km away from the Kensington campus and a free shuttle bus is available. Oxford St is a prominent component of Paddington and is world famous for its annual Mardi Gras. People travel from all corners of the world to be part of the event and join the extravagant parade. For those who enjoy sport, Paddington is also home to the Sydney Football Stadium and the Sydney Cricket Ground.

UNSW CANBERRA @ ADFA

UNSW’s Australian Defence Force Academy Campus is located in Canberra, in the Australian Capital Territory. It is easy to access Canberra’s CBD, via public transport, which hosts some excellent nightspots and restaurants but the real value in Canberra is often in its amazing landmarks and outdoor activities. A short trip from the campus will take you to The National Gallery of Australia, The National Library of Australia and as the nation’s capital you will also find the Old and New Parliament House buildings, in addition to the Australian War Memorial.

A Day off Study

9AM  | Enjoy one of the best luxuries of being a student - a late wake-up on your days off!
11AM | Take a train, bus or ferry to Sydney’s Circular Quay to visit the Museum of Contemporary Art - and take in the best view in Sydney on your way! Entry to the Museum is free and open 364 days a year. The Museum is located in West Circular Quay, with an entrance at 140 George Street. Inside, you will find the best of Australian and international contemporary art.
12PM | Buy a cheap takeaway lunch from one of the many cafes around Circular Quay (or eat a pre-packed snack), and take the harbour-side walk from Circular Quay to the Sydney Botanic Gardens (closest to East Circular Quay). Inside the garden you will find the very best picnic spots in Sydney.
2PM  | Take advantage of Circular Quay’s selection of public transport and take the bus to one of Sydney’s best beaches - Bondi. The 333 bus route will get you there quickly.
3PM  | Take off your shoes and go for a stroll along Bondi’s beautiful beachfront.
6PM  | Indulge in some cheap takeaway fish and chips - best eaten looking out to sea with a friend!
7PM  | Drop in for a drink at Bondi’s famous watering hole, The Beach Road Hotel, which features live music on most nights.
9PM  | Take public transport home.
10PM | Time to sleep, watch movies or explore the internet - it all depends on whether you have uni tomorrow….

A Day of Study

7AM  | Wake up and start the morning well with a healthy breakfast and walk or commute to the UNSW campus.
8AM  | Take advantage of UNSW’s Fitness and Aquatic Centre, located on campus and open from 6AM every day. One swim pass costs $5 for students, and a regular gym and swim membership costs $35.00 a fortnight.
9AM  | Make the easy walk from the on-campus Fitness and Aquatic Centre to your first class of the day.
11AM | With a break in-between your class, catch up with a friend over a cup of coffee or tea at one of the many excellent cafes on campus.
12PM | Arrive at your next class.
2PM  | Eat lunch outdoors at one of UNSW’s best secret spots - the Sculpture Lawn behind the Morven Brown building.
3PM  | Attend your third (and final) class of the day.
6PM  | Get to know your classmates better over a post-class visit to one of UNSW’s student bars - like the Whitehouse or the Roundhouse - or late-night cafes.
7PM  | Make dinner at home using fresh ingredients from the campus supermarket.
8PM  | Get to know Australian culture by indulging in some of our best television options!
9PM  | Revise the work you have done in class today with a study session and plan the rest of your week.
10PM | Time to sleep!
Food & Cuisine

Whether you prefer eating at home or out, sharing or eating alone, Sydney has everything covered. Without breaking your budget, you can have a range of culinary experiences within easy reach of UNSW. Sydney is also well suited to catering for all nutritional and dietary requirements.

BREAKFAST AND CAFES
Sydney’s café culture is thriving and most suburbs feature cafes that open from around 7AM – 3PM. Sydney’s coffee is renowned around the world and there are many coffee shops that brew their own blends of coffee. Coffee and tea tends to cost around $3.50 and a sandwich between $7-$12. Breakfast and lunch options are available at most cafes and you can expect to pay under $20 for each meal at a café.

BBQ + PICNICS
A great Australian tradition is the BBQ. Simply find you nearest public barbeque (most parks and beaches have one!), buy some sausages, steak and snacks and take advantage of Sydney’s excellent outdoor days with a great meal. Just don’t use the clichéd “throw a shrimp on the barbie” catchphrase – Australians actually call them prawns!

ON CAMPUS
Around UNSW Kensington Campus, you have a lot of food options available to you. With food courts, convenience stores, coffee shops and takeaway restaurants there is a vast range of quick meals. If you live in self-catered accommodation, you can find ingredients for cooking and fresh food at the on-campus Supermarket. If you would like to eat out on campus, you have a wide variety of choices, from boutique café/bars to Indian cuisine.

DINNER DATES
Sydney is a city where romance comes easy. To impress a dinner date, just secure a good view – a task that is pretty simple! A dinner date can be as casual as a picnic at the Royal Botanic Gardens overlooking Sydney’s harbour, or as fancy as a dinner at the famous Icebergs on Bondi Beach. There’s no need to spend money to impress – just enjoy Sydney’s beautiful environment, and your company.

EATING VEGETARIAN AND HALAL
Sydney has a wide variety of vegetarian food options. You can find vegetarian food on campus at stores like Yummba Vegetarian. Off campus, head to King St in Newtown for the widest range of vegetarian-only restaurants in Sydney, where you can often expect to pay less than $10 a dish! You will also find vegetarian-only restaurants and cafes in Surry Hills, Enmore (both inner city) and Harris Park (in Sydney’s Western Suburbs).

Sydney also has a large variety of halal food options. Sydney’s best-known halal restaurants can be found in the suburbs of Lakemba, Auburn, Burwood, Randwick and Kingsford.

MARRICKVILLE

Marrickville has a varied and bustling culture. You can find a strong Vietnamese community here, be sure to visit a local bakery for a famous banh mi, or Vietnamese pork roll. Every weekend, Marrickville comes together for the Addison Rd Markets, a fresh food and family event.

Shopping & Groceries

Sydney caters for a wide range of shopping experiences and budgets. Everything you need, from setting up through to your weekly groceries, is never far away.

1. SHOPPING FOR FUN
The CBD has a number of shopping districts, that make for a fantastic day of shopping, including the famous Queen Victoria Building, and department stores Myer and David Jones. If you are looking for boutique stores, Paddington is the right place to go, and if you are on the hunt for crafty high fashion, check out Newtown. Nearby Westfield Bondi Junction has a huge variety of stores to satisfy all of your shopping needs.

2. SETTING UP YOUR HOUSE
If you have moved into a new house or room, setting up your home can be a challenge. Luckily, Sydney has a couple of Ikea stores – a do-it-yourself furniture and homewares outlet – many homewares stores in the CBD and a great number of second-hand furniture and white good stores where you can make your house a home without breaking the bank.

3. BARGAIN HUNTING + SECOND-HAND
As a student, it is likely you will want to save money where you can. Thanks to Sydney’s amazing selection of second-hand stores, this is easier than you might think! Charity stores such as St Vincent De Paul operate in almost every suburb, offering new and used clothing, furniture and other items at a fraction of their original price. Markets, that take place across the city on weekends, are also a great place to find what you want and pay less. Rozelle, Glebe and Bondi are all popular.

4. FOOD SHOPPING + GROCERIES
Every suburb in Sydney tends to have, or is close to, a supermarket-style shopping store with fresh groceries and other foodstuffs. If you are looking for something a bit harder to find – such as exotic spices or Asian greens, specialty stores are often to be found in areas such as Newtown, Ashfield, Parramatta, Chinatown and more.
Sydney is known for its wide array of shopping options. From local fashion designers to tourist markets, there is something for everyone.

As you get to know Sydney you will discover your own favourites but here is a rough guide to get you started. Knowing where to look is half the battle!

SHOP

The Places To Go

GROCERIES
Like gift buying, money can be saved in Sydney by doing your grocery shopping at Markets. The Sydney Fish Markets in Pyrmont sell the freshest seafood at the lowest prices – but watch out for big weekend crowds! Paddy’s Market in Haymarket has the cheapest selection of fresh food in the inner city – and a great selection of Asian groceries.

TEXT BOOKS
UNSW has two textbook stores on campus – the UNSW Bookstore, and the UNSW Second-hand bookstore. As the names suggest, the second-hand bookstore sells used copies at a discounted price, while the UNSW Bookstore stocks everything you need for your current semester of study.

DRESS UP
If you are in need of an outfit for a formal occasion, date or (eventually!) graduation, Sydney’s major department stores stock a wide range of Australian and international designers and have mens and womens formalwear floors. Try David Jones, and Myer in the CBD or Bondi Junction.

COSMETICS
UNSW has a pharmacy on campus that sells a range of cosmetic products in addition to fulfilling prescriptions that you require. Elsewhere across Sydney there are a range of discount pharmacies that often drastically reduce the recommended retail price of cosmetic products. Chemist Warehouse in particular are known for reducing cosmetic products, with a store nearby in Randwick.

STREETWEAR
If you want the latest sneakers, or want to channel Jay Z, check out the CBD’s Galleries Victoria building for the latest in cult streetwear labels including Carhartt, APC, Levis, and more. Culture Kings in the Mid City Centre live up to their names and are a must visit for streetwear in Sydney. In addition to a wide range of merchandise, including sneakers, jerseys, hats and more, they even have a barbershop!

GIFTS
If you are in need of a gift, a trip to one of Sydney’s many weekend Markets – such as Glebe Market, Balmain Markets or the Rocks Markets – will have a large selection of local goods for you to pick out as a gift. Most market goods are relatively cheap and made locally, so they are a great choice to send home to family and friends.
Nightlife & Entertainment

Sydney is world famous for its nightlife and entertainment, yet another reason why UNSW is a great place to study. Whatever you are into, you will find everything you want and more in this exciting city.

Cocktails

There are many cocktail bars to be found in Sydney, including several on the World’s Best Bar list. These establishments range from cool craft cocktail venues to lavish bars in expensive hotels. The more extravagant options often feature stunning views of the city and beyond.

Live Music

Live music is one of the best ways to engage with Sydney’s creative scene. Performances from local and international acts happen everyday of the week across the city. Expect to pay around $10 for entry to a small or local band, and up to $60-$100 for international and stadium shows.

Pubs

In Sydney, one common feature of nights out are trips to the “pub”. The city’s pubs are places where people from all walks of life meet for a cold beer, game of pool and good conversation. Expect the beer to be (relatively) cheap, the atmosphere relaxed and the food hearty. Many pubs are called hotels, even if they don’t have accommodation.

Cinemas

Sydney’s cinemas can be the perfect escape from the often hot weather in summer. With a variety of art-house and specialty cinemas across the city, you are sure to find something amazing to watch. If you have a student card, you will often score a 30 – 50% discount on your ticket, and keep an eye out for the regular Tuesday discounts at all cinemas.

Performing Arts

Although Melbourne often claims to be the cultural capital, Sydney’s performing arts scene is an amazing creative world for you to explore. Sydney’s premier arts destination, the Sydney Opera House, has a year-round schedule of opera, theatre, music and more, as do venues like the Sydney Theatre Company, Carriageworks and the City Recital Hall.

Live Sports

Sydney is filled with sports fans, and weekends often feature professional-level games of everything from netball to water polo. Entry to most games is relatively affordable (under $40 for big games, and local games are often free. Heading along to some of Australia’s favourite sports – like Australian League Football (AFL) will show you another side to Aussie culture.
Newtown is, by far, the hot spot for Sydney student nightlife. The suburb is full of lively yet approachable establishments to spend your hard earned cash. A lot of them are genuinely cool and often lack the high price tags you might find elsewhere in Sydney.

Parks & Beaches

BONDI
Bondi Beach is Sydney’s best known - it’s almost certain that you have seen an image of this iconic beach at least a couple of times before. With pristine sand - and a strong local beach culture, Bondi is perfect for people watching, parties, surfing, exercise or swimming. If the weather isn’t great, you can still soak up the Bondi atmosphere from one of the many bars and restaurants overlooking the ocean.

COOGEE BEACH
The closest beach to UNSW, Coogee, has a wide bay-style beach (a great swimming spot), lots of sand for games and sunbathing (with appropriate sun protection!) and a wide promenade and park overlooking the beach. In summer, expect to see many families, tourists and locals using the beach as a party spot, as the free-access BBQs and many takeaway restaurants make this the perfect outdoor spot.

CENTENNIAL PARK
Just 20 minutes walk from UNSW and close to the city centre is Centennial Park, inner Sydney’s biggest public space. With tracks for bike riding and jogging, ponds, sports fields and more, this is a great place to get active. Centennial Park also has a café, and picnic spots abound – this is the place to come if you don’t want to feel like you are in a big city!
Over 53,000 students from 120 countries worldwide currently study at UNSW. The University celebrates its many international alumni, and welcomes students from all over the world.

The campus celebrates its multicultural diversity in a variety of manners. At UNSW, you will find various cultures expressed through cuisines available on campus, spaces dedicated to cultural and religious practice, (such as the Islamic Centre Prayer Room), and multicultural events. There are many student cultural clubs available to join to connect with your culture.

With this diversity in student population, UNSW is a safe place to express your culture and learn about others in a respectful environment.
RELAXING
On Campus

TAKE A WALK
If you would like to clear your head, a walk around campus is an excellent choice. Walk to the Old Main Building lawn for shady serenity, or take a hike up campus for a break that will get you fit as you climb UNSW’s famous stairs.

QUIET SPOTS
Not all students know, but UNSW features its own Japanese Garden. Hidden behind the Vice Chancellor’s building, this is an oasis of calm amongst the crowds of the university.

If you want serenity with a view, head to the top verandah of the Scientia building – almost always empty, you can sit here and survey your UNSW kingdom.

CAFÉ BREAK
UNSW has cafes dotted throughout the campus. A cup of coffee or tea can be an inexpensive luxury to relax on your day at campus. For around $3 you can get your caffeine hit, and soak up the buzz of the student cafes. But be prepared – uni students love their coffee so there might be lines!

COMMON AREAS
UNSW has an array of well-designed common areas for study, chilling out or chatting with friends. If you need quiet time to relax, the Main Library at UNSW has couches, internet and even some places to have a sneaky nap! Most campus buildings also have common areas. At the College of Fine Arts Campus in Paddington, take advantage of the recently renovated courtyard, and take part in one of the many campus community activities.

GET ACTIVE!
UNSW has a variety of sports and recreation facilities, with sports teams you can join, a pool, gym, and more. If you are feeling stressed, exercising can be a great way to relax – and meet new people on campus!
The Faculties

UNSW is divided into nine faculties, in addition to the Graduate Research School. Each faculty is independently responsible for the administration of programs they offer. Contact faculties directly to discuss your individual program or to learn more about a particular area of study.

ARTS AND SOCIAL SCIENCES (FASS)
This is a lively community of leading academics encouraging students to explore big ideas. They combine traditional scholarship with progressive thinking, and apply that knowledge to contemporary challenges. They make a significant contribution to public debate and their research generates outcomes with real social impact and community engagement. Attracting bright, imaginative, globally conscious students, they challenge them to think critically and then translate their knowledge and skills into exciting and unpredictable careers. The opportunities for students demonstrate that this faculty truly offers a license to explore.

STUDYING AT UNSW
Courses will generally involve a combination of lectures and tutorials, although some courses will vary. Assessment will occur throughout the semester in the form of assignments (individual and/or group), participation, reports, tests and/or exams.

End of semester exams occur both on campus and at Randwick Racecourse, depending on your course. English and Bi-Lingual dictionaries are permitted in any exam other than a language exam. Some courses may permit ‘authorised material’ including lecture notes, molecular models, approved calculators and texts as prescribed.
Prepare for your first day at UNSW. Everything you need to arrange before you get on the plane to Sydney, how to officially become a UNSW student and be aware of your responsibilities and requirements.

OFFER
What type of offer did you get? UNSW will provide you with a Full Offer, Full Offer with Outstanding Requirements, Conditional Offer, Packaged Offer or a Wait Status. Be aware of the expiry and deferment conditions of the offer.

ACCEPTANCE
Once all requirements are satisfied you have two different options for acceptance; online or in writing. To accept online you need to log onto myUNSW while written acceptance should be sent to the Admissions Office.

ENROLMENT
Plan your enrolment by checking your program requirements and learning about the courses offered. Then log in to myUNSW and add your chosen courses/classes.

VISA
Make sure you will satisfy all visa requirements and understand all processes for obtaining your student visa. Be aware of all conditions of the visa and the appropriate contacts.

ACCOMMODATION
Research your accommodation options including residential colleges, private rentals and student apartments. Know the differences between the accommodation styles and the pros and cons of each.

COST OF LIVING
Know the costs of life as a student at UNSW to make sure you are on top of your expenses. Get a rough guide of expenses so you know what you face financially when you arrive in Sydney.

BANKING
Know about the currency in Australia, learn about setting up a bank account and understand the process for sending money overseas.

PACKING
Know what you can and can’t bring with you on your flight to Sydney. Make sure you have all your paperwork sorted in your carry-on luggage, photocopies of your passport and some Australian currency for when you land.
The Offer Process

Procedures for Undergraduate, Postgraduate Coursework and Research Programs.

Common Outcomes:

1. FULL OFFER
   Congratulations! Your application was successful.
   Once the offer has been issued, you should accept as early as possible and no later than the deposit payment due date.

2. CONDITIONAL OFFER
   A conditional offer is issued indicating the anticipated conditions of offer that you have to meet to gain unconditional admission. The conditions could be academic and/or English, or in some cases, relate to under 18 visa requirements. You must submit the required evidence in order to accept the conditional offer. This evidence needs to be a certified copy, see the website for details on who can certify your documents.
   unsw.edu.au/document-certification

3. PACKAGED OFFER: ENGLISH LANGUAGE WITH UNSW DEGREE
   International applicants who have a minimum Academic IELTS overall score of 5.0 may be considered for a Conditional Package Offer. A package offer may be given for applicants who have the academic qualifications required for admission, but whose IELTS results did not meet the English language requirements. Eligible applicants will be given an English offer and a primary degree package offer from UNSW.

4. APPLICATIONS WITH AN ON HOLD/WAIT STATUS
   Application has been received but is missing something relevant to the application such as payment of the application fee, transcripts etc. Your application will not proceed until the issue is resolved by contacting Admissions or the Graduate Research School.

ACCEPTING AN OFFER
Accepting Your Offer

1. ONLINE ACCEPTANCE
   International students can choose to accept/defer/withdraw online via myUNSW.
   Students are required to pay a deposit (currently AUD $4,000*) when they accept their offer. Approved sponsored students by-pass the need to pay a deposit and have to accept the offer using the Reply Form attached to their offers together with a copy of the International Sponsored Students Agreement form.

2. PAPER ACCEPTANCE
   You can accept your offer by completing the Reply Form contained in your offer letter and returning it to the Admissions Office along with a bank draft for AUD $4,000* made payable to 'The University of New South Wales' or by providing your credit card details.

*For some students these amounts will vary.

THINGS TO CONSIDER

Students are required to maintain satisfactory academic progress. If students do not make satisfactory academic progress the University is required to inform the Department of Immigration and Border Protection (DIBP).

You cannot take leave from your program or suspend your studies unless there are exceptional circumstances which are beyond your control. UNSW will not be able to grant leave under this provision without documentation which supports your request for program leave.

International student visa holders are required to have Overseas Student Health Cover (OSHC) for the entire length of their visa.

You must inform the University of any change to your current residential address within seven days of it changing.

Failure to comply with the conditions of your student visa could result in the cancellation of your Student Visa and you will be subject to removal from Australia.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN IF I DO NOT COMPLY WITH THE ABOVE CONDITIONS?

You must comply with all of the conditions of your visa. If you fail the University is obliged to inform DIBP. A letter will be issued to you, advising that you have 28 days to attend a specified DIBP office to resolve the matter. If you fail to report, your visa will be automatically cancelled and you will be subject to removal from Australia.

WHO SHOULD I CONTACT FOR MORE ADVICE?

If you have difficulties understanding your student visa conditions or wish to discuss any personal issues that are affecting you, you can contact Student Development International. You can also contact your academic advisor/program authority/Faculty office for advice regarding your enrolment, academic performance, progression or intention to take program leave.

UNDER 18

Under 18 visas are issued by DIBP in two categories; accompanied and unaccompanied. Accompanied students will reside in Australia with a parent, legal guardian or a close relative of good character (nominated by both parents) who is 21 or over. Unaccompanied students will require a Confirmation of Appropriate Accommodation and Welfare letter (CAAW) from UNSW. These students must live in UniLodge (until they turn 18), attend step-up orientation program, attend Under 18s Arrival Essentials workshop and attend regular scheduled meetings with an International Student Advisor.
UNSW Accommodation

RESIDENTIAL COLLEGES
If you want everything taken care of, then residential colleges may be the way to go. This is the most structured accommodation option available and includes all meals, academic support, pastoral care, live-in staff and an organised social and sporting program.

UNSW has several residential colleges, each with their own unique qualities: Basser College, Philip Baxter College, Goldstein College and Fig Tree Hall.

Pros: You have more time to focus on studying as you live on campus and everything is provided. Additionally you have access to a support network and social interactions with other college residents.

Cons: As everything is included, the cost of a residential college can be higher than other options. If you prefer greater independence and less structure then other options may be more suitable.

rc.unsw.edu.au/colleges/unsw-colleges

UNSW-OWNED APARTMENTS
For those who desire independent living but still want to live on campus, this option is ideal. They are operated by UNSW but do not include extras like food and pastoral support.

There are several UNSW apartments available either on or nearby the Kensington campus: University Terraces, Barker Apartments, Mulwarree Apartments and High St Apartments.

Pros: Living on campus makes your study life significantly easier and the apartments are full of other students to socialise with. Independent living gives you greater control over how you spend your time. If you have a partner or family, they can live with you in these apartments.

Cons: If you like your own space you will need a studio or 1 bedroom apartment and they are more expensive than sharing. If you choose to share you will need to learn to share bathrooms, kitchens and living spaces.

rc.unsw.edu.au/apartments/accommodation

STUDENT DORMITORIES
Colombo House is now available to provide international students with dormitory style living. Each room comes with an ensuite bathroom, king single bed, study desk and wardrobe.

Pros: This option provides your own private room, a quiet desk to focus on studying and large common rooms and kitchen.

Cons: In self-catering accommodation you are responsible for buying and preparing your own meals.

rc.unsw.edu.au/colleges/unsw-colleges
Private Housing

PRIVATE RENTAL
Renting an apartment or house either alone or with housemates is truly independent living. For better or worse you will be responsible for everything that happens and the associated costs.

Pros: You have complete control over your own lifestyle and determine who you share your space with. For those who love their independence, or already have a group of friends/family to share with, this can be an appropriate option.

Cons: With independence comes the costs and you will have to either pay extra for fully furnished accommodation or obtain furniture yourself. Paying for everything, including utilities, can be an expense and an additional hassle on your study life.

STUDENT ACCOMMODATION
In addition to the UNSW operated apartments, there are other options either on or nearby campus. These options provide fully furnished rooms with shared kitchens and bathrooms.

The UNSW affiliated apartments are:
- New College Village
  - ncv.unsw.edu.au
- UNSW Village
  - unswvillage.com.au
- UniLodge
  - unilodge.com.au/sydney/unsw

Pros: Student Accommodation is ideal for focusing on study, and these apartment buildings have designated study areas. As the buildings are full of students they present great opportunities for socialising.

Cons: Shared apartments and buildings full of students can create distractions for students who struggle with time management. If you struggle to study when sharing spaces then student apartments may not be for you.
The Costs of Living

Estimates suggest you will need at least AUD$20,000 a year as an international student to live in Sydney. This can vary based on your spending habits and lifestyle. Here a few tips to save you some money on the basics.

1. FOOD + GROCERIES
Savings can be made by preparing meals at home, planning your meals for the week and freezing leftovers. Eating out is tempting, but it is very expensive! There are plenty of grocery stores around UNSW, and many specialty shops selling ingredients from a range of countries.

2. TRANSPORT
If you live near enough to campus then walk or ride a bike to cut down on transport costs. Cycling in Sydney is safe as well as being good for the environment and your fitness. Public transport, when required, is reliable so there is no need to buy a car.

3. ENTERTAINMENT
There are student specials available on a range of activities across the city; keep an eye out around campus for advertising, follow companies on social media and sign up for student newsletters. Most cinemas will have a day every week, commonly Tuesday, where you can watch a movie cheaply.

4. ACCOMMODATION
Your cost of living can vary significantly depending on your accommodation choices. Be aware of additional costs like utility bills and that if you rent privately you will need money upfront for a bond (although you should get it back). How far you live from campus will also impact upon your transport costs.
Money & Banking

TRANSFERRING FUNDS

To receive money from overseas the sender will need to know your Bank Account Name, Bank Account Number, BSB (Branch Number), Address of the Bank and the Bank’s Swift Code. If you need to send money overseas you will need to know the Account Name, the bank’s ‘SORT’ code, International Bank Account Number (IBAN) (Europe Only) and the SWIFT code of the bank.

BANK ACCOUNTS

There are two bank branches on campus (Commonwealth Bank and ANZ Bank) that may be the most convenient to open an account with. Other banks are also located nearby and all feature a range of account options. You will need proof of identity and proof of address to open a bank account. ANZ also offer a pre-departure service so you can open an account before you leave.

ATMS + EFTPOS

Bank cash-dispenser machines, known in Australia as Automatic Teller Machines (ATMs) are widespread, as is the use of Electronic Funds Transfer at Point of Sale (EFTPOS). In most retail outlets and restaurants you can pay by cash, or EFTPOS using a debit card or credit card. In some convenience stores there may be a minimum spend of approx $10 for EFTPOS transactions.

CURRENCY

Australian currency follows a decimal system. A Dollar (A$) is divided into 100 cents (¢). Notes come in denominations of $5, $10, $20, $50, and $100. The notes are in different colours and increase in size according to value. These notes are unique as they are plastic! Coins come in denominations of $1 and $2 (gold coloured coins), 50¢, 20¢, 10¢ and 5¢ (silver coloured).

CURRENCY CONVERSION

If you have currency from back home you can exchange for Australian currency. This can be done at Post Offices, however there are hundreds of currency exchange offices scattered all over the city.

ONLINE BANKING

All Australian banks now have online banking to give you instant access to your accounts. They can be used to manage your finances, pay bills and transfer money.
Things to Pack

DICTIONARY
In case you encounter English words you are unsure of and want to check/confirm their meanings.

CONVERTER
For all of your electrical goods you will require an Australian power adaptor. Also pack an extension socket.

CURRENCY
Having some Australian currency with you when you arrive will make things easier.

CLOTHING
Australia’s climate varies from very hot summers to cold, rainy winters. Be prepared!

MEDICAL
Make sure you have any necessary prescription paperwork and any permitted medication you require.

CAMERA
Family and friends at home will love seeing snaps of your arrival in Sydney.

VISA
Ensure you have your valid Australian visa with you to show when you land.

Things Not to Pack

MEDICINES
Some medications are not permitted in large quantities so check before you depart.

FOOD/PLANTS
To protect Australia’s unique environment you are not permitted to bring in food or plants without declaration.

WEAPONS
Be wary of what can be considered a weapon or risk having it seized.

AGRICULTURE/VETERINARY
To protect Australia’s animals you are unable to bring in agricultural or veterinary items from other countries.

PIRATED GOODS
Make sure you don’t have any pirated goods (movies etc) in your possession.

ALCOHOL/CIGARETTES
If you require these items make sure you only buy them duty free upon arrival.

OVER $10,000
Large amounts of cash (equivalent to A$10,000 or more) are not permitted.

CONVERTER
For all of your electrical goods you will require an Australian power adaptor. Also pack an extension socket.

Australia’s climate varies from very hot summers to cold, rainy winters. Be prepared!
You’ve stepped off the plane in Sydney. Now what? This section will walk you through setting up as a new resident of Sydney and as a student at UNSW.
Getting Home From the Airport

Sydney Airport, also known as Kingsford Smith Airport, is located in the suburb of Mascot. It is conveniently close to both the Inner West & the Eastern Suburbs of Sydney, including Kensington and UNSW. Transport between terminals is fairly easy and can be done via the Airport link train.

🔗 sydneyairport.com.au/go

UNSW PICK-UP SERVICE
Student Development International (SDI) provides Airport pick up service to pick you up from the international terminal of the Kingsford Smith Airport, Sydney and take you to the SDI Welcome centre at UNSW’s main campus. Under 18 students who book this service will be dropped to their accommodation (Unilodge / UNSW Accommodation). Cost of service is AUD 15 per person. Bookings are essential and can be made by completing the online booking form on the website. For information on pickup service dates, hours of operation and online booking for Semester 1 and Semester 2 please check the SDI website.

🔗 student.unsw.edu.au/airport-pickup

1. TRAIN
Taking the Airport Link train service is perhaps the most economical option getting to and from the airport. Trains run every 10 to 30 minutes depending on the time of day, from 4am to past midnight. The full trip takes 12 minutes and goes to/from Town Hall via the City Circle & the Domestic Terminal to the International Terminal. From the International airport station tickets cost $16.70.

2. CAR/TAXI
If you can afford it, taking a taxi to and from the airport is a convenient option. One way fares range from approximately $45 to the city or $35 to UNSW. If you know someone with a car who can pick you up or drop you off, this is another convenient option. Be careful to obey the free parking minutes in the public pick-up area, as the parking does get expensive if you stay beyond the free 10 – 15 minutes.

3. BUS
A little known secret for those staying near Bondi Junction and Burwood is that the route 400 bus travels via both the International and Domestic Terminals. Although this will take a bit longer (up to an hour), it is a much cheaper option to get home from the airport than the other options.
Public Transport

Sydney’s public transport system consists of train, bus and ferry, with some additional light rail connections. UNSW is well connected with four express bus routes (890, 891, 892 and 895) running between campus and Central Station. In addition, there are eight non-express buses available.

transportnsw.info

GETTING AROUND

A good tip to remember is that every train line will eventually lead to the city, via the City Circle Line. This line includes Sydney’s major transport hubs, Central, Town Hall, Wynyard, and Circular Quay. There is also a free shuttle bus, route 555 that operates from Central Station to Circular Quay, via George St. You need to signal the driver for the bus to stop. Trip Planner is a great point of reference to find your way on Sydney’s public transport system:

transportnsw.info

NIGHT BUSES

For the late nights, it is good to keep in mind that most regular public transport services finish around midnight, after which the major train services are replaced by night buses. These buses run between midnight and 4am, servicing several areas of the city. They run every night of the week, with additional services on weekends.

More information can be found here:

sydneytrains.info/timetables

SHUTTLE BUS

UNSW provides a free shuttle bus for students to safely get between the COFA and Kensington campuses, especially at night. The shuttle bus stop is located at the Gate 8 entrance on High Street (UNSW Kensington) and at the Greens Rd entrance (COFA). It runs hourly, between 7am - 7pm, for most of the academic year.

transportnsw.info

TICKETS

Before boarding any public transport system in Sydney you will need to purchase a ticket. For train & ferry this can be done directly at any train station or ferry terminal. For bus, tickets can be purchased from a variety of stores, such as chemists, convenience stores & tobacconists. International students are eligible for discounts on quarterly tickets. For further information see:

transportnsw.info
Buying a Bike

Bikes are a great option for transport in Sydney, but you need think how you will use it. Are you using it to get to university, will you be riding long distances, in the rain or off road? Finding your local bike shop and chatting to the staff there can help you decide which type of bike will be the best fit for you.

WHERE TO BUY
Once you’ve decided on the make and style of bike you’d like, the next step is to think about the price you’d like to pay. If you’re in it for the long haul and plan to give the bike a lot of use then buying a new bike is a good investment. If you’re unsure how much the bike will be used or if it is only going to be used short term then it is probably a good idea to buy second hand. Some good places to shop for bikes are Bondi Junction, Wooly’s Wheels, Europa Cycles, gumtree.com.au & omafiets.com.au who operate a buy back scheme.

BIKES IN SYDNEY
In Sydney it is illegal to ride on the footpath. Fortunately the City of Sydney Council has been busy developing dedicated bike paths throughout the city. They also offer free weekly bike riding and maintenance courses.
sydneycycleways.net

Bike travel on trains is free, except at peak hours, 6am – 9am & 3pm – 7pm, when it is mandatory to buy a child ticket for you bike.

UNSW also has a very active bike club with a bike loan program:
unswbikeclub.org.au

BIKE ACCESSORIES & MAINTENANCE
It is illegal in Sydney to ride without a helmet, so be sure to get one when you buy your bike. Attached to the bike must also be a bell, red rear reflector and a white front reflector, but most bikes will come with these. You probably also want to consider buying both a front and a back light if you’re going to be riding at night time, as well as a good strong bike lock for parking. In regards to maintaining your bike, a bike pump to keep the wheels inflated and lubricant to oil the chain are always good to have on hand.
Buying a Car

There are many things to consider when buying a car. Perhaps the obvious thing to consider is whether to buy a new or used car. Ask yourself questions such as, do you need a big or a small car, how much will insurance cost, how much petrol will you use and is a warranty important to you? It’s a good idea to compare market prices and options by looking through car ads online; a good point of reference is carsales.com.au. There are car parks available on campus, both casual and permits, in addition to a carpooling service and two carshare cars.

Make sure you have a valid overseas licence. If it is not in English you will need to drive with a translation.

BUYING NEW
The great thing about buying a new car is that you know exactly what you’re getting; a brand new car with no mileage or wear, plus all new cars will come with a manufacturer’s warranty.

It’s a good idea to know the market price of the make and model you’re after before visiting car dealers and to always compare quotes to get the best deal possible.

Be wary of any add-ons when the deal is being finalised and be sure to check the conditions of the warranty. And of course, with both new and used cars, it’s always a good idea to take the car for a test drive first.

BUYING USED
The advantage of buying a used car is that it is by far the cheapest option. When buying a used car there are lots things to consider and take caution with, perhaps the most important of these are the age and mileage of the car.

Ask the seller about the history of the car and its prior use. The benefit of buying from a licensed dealer is the guarantee of an honest odometer reading and the inclusion of a three-month statutory warranty.

However, buying privately could land you an even better bargain. Just make sure you get a receipt for any payment that shows the seller’s details in full.

GETTING STARTED
Once you’ve got the car sorted, you will need to get it registered and insured. You’ll need to register the car within 14 days of purchase. If it’s a new car you’ll need a new registration, if it’s second hand you will need to transfer the rego into your name.

To register your car you will need a greenslip. A greenslip is your Compulsory Third Party insurance; it provides compensation if someone is injured when your vehicle is at fault.

For more information on registration, insurance and getting started with your car, see: rms.nsw.gov.au/geared
STAYING SAFE

Some Things To Consider

In general Sydney is a very safe city, but it is still a major city and there is no harm in taking some precautions. These include staying near or with other people, travelling in groups, staying in well lit areas, avoiding carrying large amounts of cash, not showing off your mobile phone and letting people know where you will be when you go out.

SYDNEY SPECIFIC PRECAUTIONS

While Sydney is a safe city there are certain areas, not to avoid but to be wary of; these include Kings Cross, Haymarket & Redfern. Make sure you know the number for a taxi service so you will always have a way of getting yourself home. Taxis Combined is Sydney’s largest taxi network and have over 2000 taxis in the Sydney area. Their phone number is 133 300, additionally their mobile app is a great resource for booking and tracking their taxis. Remember if you ever need it the emergency number in Australia is Triple Zero (000).

SAFETY AT NIGHT

Common sense safety precautions still apply when travelling, and it is particularly good to exercise caution when travelling at night. On train stations there are emergency help points and CCTV cameras. Locate these and wait near them. If you can’t afford a taxi, remember there is always the option to take the night ride bus service. And don’t be too concerned if you do end up in Kings Cross or Haymarket at night, just be sensible and stay with friends when possible.

TRAIN SAFETY

When travelling by train, sit by the blue light as this indicates the guard’s compartment. On Friday and Saturday night try to board the Guardian Service when possible. Police officers and train staff are present both on trains and at certain major stations for this service. On newer trains you can use the emergency help points for emergency contact with the guard. For further information see: sydneytrains.info/travelling_with/

Get Connected

UNIVERSITY WIRELESS

On campus you will be able to access the university’s wireless network: ‘UniWide’. Accessible on laptops and mobile devices, this network provides fast, secure wireless network connectivity across UNSW’s campuses. For more information on connecting to the network see:

www.it.unsw.edu.au/students/uniwide

INTERNET

If you plan on using the Internet on your laptop infrequently and at different locations (uni, home, cafés etc), you are best suited to prepaid USB modems (dongles) or tethering to your phone. However, if you are a heavy internet user and plan to study a lot from your private residence, perhaps look at signing up to an ADSL plan with a provider such as Telstra, iinet, Optus or TPG.

MOBILE

There are also several different options when buying a mobile phone. If getting the latest smart phone is important to you or if you would like international call and text options then a plan is probably going to get you the best phone inclusive deal. If you already have a phone or are looking to buy a cheaper phone then the flexibility and independence of buying prepaid could be the better option. A prepaid sim will come with some credit and then you can top it up as required.

SKYPE, HANGOUTS, VIBER

You probably already have a Skype account, but did you know that you could call both international and national home and mobile phones at very competitive rates from Skype. Hangouts is a new Google+ feature, allowing you to connect, call, message, share photos or stream live recordings with all your Google+ friends for free. And Viber is the new kid on the block, allowing you the same options, but run from your phone. It accesses your address book and allows you to call or text directly from your phone to a friends phone for free.

DISCOUNTS
Joining Arc gets you free or discounted access to all the parties and events on campus. These include session parties, O-week events, Artsweek and Oktoberfest. Furthermore, your Arc member sticker makes you privy to a range of on and off campus discounts, such as drink deals at the Roundhouse, cheap and tasty pork rolls at Tropical Green, travel discounts at STA Travel, cheap movie tickets at the Ritz and a buy one, get one free deal at the Sydney Aquarium!

SOCIETIES
Joining Arc gets you free or discounted membership to any of the 180 clubs and societies on campus. These range from the Film Society, which offers regular free film screenings, to the drama society, where you can take part in the production and performance of plays throughout the year to a range of international student associations, such as the UNSW Chinese society.

ADVICE + SUPPORT
As a member of Arc you can join the Student Representative Council to advocate for the rights and needs of students at UNSW. You can also join more specific advocacy and awareness groups such as the environment and ethnic affairs. Arc also offers student support in the form of legal advice or subsidised representation and access to room hire on campus.

MEMBERSHIP
There is no membership fee to join Arc, so there is really no reason not to sign up. Registration is easy, all you will need is an internet connection, your student number and contact details. Just follow the prompts at the ARC website. Be sure to join Arc as soon as you can, the membership pack is full of freebies, but only while stocks last.

Making Mates

G’DAY
Australians are a friendly bunch, don’t take our laid back attitudes for indifference or disinterest, we’re just really easy going. That said, you’ll be meeting people from across the globe when you start at UNSW. The best thing you can do is to be friendly and forming new friendships will likely be one of the best things about your student experience.

GET INVOLVED
The best way to make new friends is to be as socially active as possible. Join Arc and get involved with the different events, parties, clubs and societies on offer, or even start your own. Join the student magazine or a sports team, join a religious group or if you’re musically inclined you can join one of the campus music ensembles, like the choir or the guitar ensemble.

TUTES & LECTURES
Tutorials are a great place to get to know people. Be vocal in class, not only will the tutor be impressed, but your classmates will get to know a bit about you too. In lectures, sit next to people you recognise from your tutorials or from outside of class and say ‘hi’. Another great idea is to start study groups with people from your classes, meet at a café or at the pub and you’ll soon get to know a little more than just your class material.

THE WIDER COMMUNITY
Sport not only keeps you fit but is the perfect way to get further involved with your community. UNSW has clubs covering a large variety of sports and there are several other clubs in the local area. Community centres also host social sport competitions, where you can play with friends and make new ones.
Volunteering

Develop new skills while giving back to the community and making friends.

WHY VOLUNTEER?
Volunteering is a great way to meet people, gain experience, develop practical skills and give back to the community. It is also a nice way to become acquainted with a new city. Furthermore, volunteer efforts will boost your CV and attract employers. UNSW Advantage will allow you to develop a range of professional skills.

VOLUNTEER EXPO
UNSW holds a volunteer and work expo every year. This is a great chance to talk directly with various not-for-profit organisations about the volunteer opportunities available. More information can be found here:

student.unsw.edu.au/volunteer-work-expo

ARC
If you’re interested in volunteering then it’s a good idea to join Arc. Arc is home to a huge selection of volunteer positions, ranging from organising campus events to trips to regional Aboriginal communities and peer mentoring. For more information see:

arc.unsw.edu.au/get-involved/

STUDENT MEDIA
Arc offers a range of opportunities to get involved with student media. You can write for one of the student publications, such as Tharunka (the student magazine), join the radio podcasting program The Pod, or develop your camera skills with student video channel vHub.

arc.unsw.edu.au

OUTREACH
Arc also offers various outreach programs such as Walama Muru, which focuses on community development and reconciliation in Indigenous communities; Shack Tutoring, which offers free tutoring services to disadvantaged high school students; and BRIGHTSIDE, which offers artistic mentoring to underprivileged high school students.

IN THE COMMUNITY
As an international student, UNSW offers you the opportunity to volunteer with not-for-profits in the wider community. This is a great chance to get a further understanding of Australian cultural, social and political systems.
Part Time Work

CHECK YOUR REQUIREMENTS

Before you apply for a part time job, make sure you double-check the requirements of your visa. Generally speaking, if you are living in Australia on a student visa then you're allowed to work up to 40 hours a fortnight during semester and unlimited hours during holidays. Though you are not allowed to begin working until you've started at Uni.

PROHIBITED

PREPARE YOUR KIT

Before you apply for a job you'll also need to get yourself a Tax File Number (TFN). This is very easy to apply for and means that you'll be taxed as little as possible. For more information on applying for a tax file number see:

- ato.gov.au

If you want to work in a bar or pub then you'll also need to apply for your Responsible Service of Alcohol (RSA) certificate, this can easily be done online, HIA is the cheapest provider:

- hia.edu.au/online-rsa

GO OUT AND HUNT

Actually searching and applying for a job is definitely the hardest part. If you want to work in hospitality it's best to take in your resume in person. Otherwise most jobs will only accept online applications direct through their webpage or through a provider. The most popular job search providers are My Career, Seek and One Shift, or if you want to work in a not-for-profit then Ethical Jobs is the best place to look.

Your First Week

Everything you need to sort out in your first week as a UNSW student. Once this is all out the way, it’s really time to start enjoying the student life!

- O-WEEK
- LIBRARY
- MY UNSW
- JOIN ARC
- TIMETABLES
- GET THE APP
- ID CARD
- BOOKS
- THE CAMPUS
- THE BEACH

ORIENTATION WEEK

Attend O-Week. This is a great opportunity to get acquainted with the campus, take tours, attend workshops, meet people, join clubs, go to parties and have a lot of fun.

student.unsw.edu.au/university-preparation

LIBRARY

During O-Week take a tour of the library, this will teach you how to use and borrow from the library, as well as how to use the online journal database.

JOIN ARC

Joining Arc enables you to join clubs and societies, attend events at reduced rates, get discounts on food, volunteer and much more. Sign up during O-Week and you’ll snag yourself a goody bag too!

bookshop.unsw.edu.au

MY UNSW

First thing’s first, log into My UNSW and keep track of your class enrolments, timetable and course handbook. In the future you’ll be checking back here for census dates, exams and fees.

THE CAMPUS

UNSW campus offers cafes, bars, a music venue, dentist, doctors practice, post office, bank, several ATM’s, a chemist, stationery reuse centre, food co-op, sports centre, swimming pool... Get acquainted!

THE BEACH

Now you’re all exhausted from a big first week, take the 370 bus down the road and relax at Coogee beach, or even better, walk around for a swim at the tranquil Gordon’s Bay.

GET THE APP

Before you arrive at Uni, it could be a good idea to download the UNSW Uni-Verse App. This will help you organise your events and courses, and the map tool will help you to locate your classes on campus. Take a look at the Arc App too.

STUDENT ID CARD

On your first day at Uni go and grab your student card from FM assist. This entitles you to reduced rates on public transport and enables you to borrow books at the library. You’ll need your student number and some photo ID to collect it.

GET YOUR BOOKS AND READERS

Before your first class make sure you know what texts and readers you will need to purchase for your courses. You can buy all your necessary course material from the UNSW bookshop.

TIMETABLES

Next you might want to take note of your timetable, write down the locations of your class and lecture rooms, you might even like to locate them on a campus map. Then organise yourself and your week accordingly.

CAMPUS ACQUAINTANCE

FIRST STEPS
This guide is just the beginning of your UNSW journey; a journey we hope is full of success and enjoyment. Leaving your home to study is a big commitment but UNSW staff and students will be there to support you along the way. We encourage you to explore the world that surrounds UNSW, whether it be through part time employment, volunteering, enjoying the parks and beaches, or even just meeting the locals.

Sydney is a beautiful city to live in and we hope you learn to love it as much as we do.
